ROBA

Problem

We know that a lot of our authors and publishing partners are not always at their desk to sign paper documents.

Even if at a desk it is a burden for them to sign the ton of paper a music publishing or licensing contract is normally made of, furthermore getting the stamps and bringing the documents to a post office is time consuming and costly not to speak about the unnecessary CO2 footprint.

ROBA is proud to be the first music publisher that offers its authors and partners a free of charge, easy, fast and secure way to e-sign publishing and licensing documents.
